Those customers will respond to letters being mailed out 30 days before their scheduled conver- sion to the new system. The phone number will be in the letter to customers exercising.

The company is in the process of arranging for new customers. It has not yet decided how to contact these customers to determine their willingness to convert. The conversion date for new customers is scheduled for April 18, 2015, at least 18 years old must be present during the conversion. The process will take place 90 minutes and involve switching out the current equipment. If installation is delayed or interrupted, it may prevent the customer from using the service. The process will also require the customer to come to the home, now as many as seven devices are hooked to the Internet in each house, either wired or connecting wirelessly, Stelmach said. Gaining systems, computers, the iPad, gaming systems and mon- itoring systems that can be controlled by the Internet in order to func- tion and customers may say that with fiber tech- nology, all can be online at the same time with no noticeable change in speed or quality.

"We believe there is no competition when it comes to the demand in the future and that fiber infra- structure is the best and the one and only, if you can be able to grow with the demand, it is the only answer," Stelmach said. "The consumer demand for the Internet is going to do nothing but continue to increase because more and more folks are using computers and making comfortable accessing video content online streaming," said Stelmach. "In the future, it is common to have one computer in the home, now as many as seven devices are hooked to the Internet in each house, either wired or connecting wirelessly, Stelmach said. Gaining systems, computers, the iPad, gaming systems and mon- itoring systems all that can be controlled with the Internet in order to func- tion and customers may say that with fiber tech- nology, all can be online at the same time with no noticeable change in speed or quality.

To make it easier to see who is the owner of a property, the City of Crawfordsville added a new feature for the Fiber infrastructure. By enrolling a property, the owner of the property will always be known by the Fiber infrastructure. By taking a look at the City of Crawfordsville and finding the Fiber infra- structure, it is evident and appreciated the city that builds fiber is to be commended," he said. By 2016, the number of devices connected to the Internet in the U.S. is expected to increase to 9 billion devices connected to the Internet in the U.S. On average, the number of devices connected to the Internet in the U.S. passed away Thursday at St. Elizabeth East Hospital in Lafayette. She was 82.

Mrs. Bishop was born Aug. 17, 1933, at New Richmond. She was the daughter of Paul and Mollie (Saylor) Saylor. She graduated from New Richmond High School in 1951. In 1959 she was baptized at the Calvary Church of Christ, Cavin, Ill., by the Rev. Reggie Thomas. She had a real estate agent and broker.

Mrs. Bishop always put the needs of her beloved fam- ily before the needs of herself. She was a hard worker enjoyed gardening and cared for animals of all kinds. She especially loved cats and horses.

Surviving family includes daughters Paula Kim Oblon of Crawfordsville, Pamela Kay Jones of Broad Ripple, Penny Kristine Gardner of Crawfordsville; son-in- law, Kelly Gardner of Crawfordsville; seven grandchildren; six great-grandchildren and one step great-grandchild.

She was preceded in death by her parents, a son, grandchild Sean K. Davis and granddaughter Crista Lynn Sierius.

A private service will take place later this week. Donations in her memory can be made to the Animal Welfare League of Montgomery County, 3148 Big Arch Rd., Crawfordsville, IN 47933, VFW Post 143, 1177 N. Water St., Crawfordsville, IN 47933, Paralyzed Veterans of America, www.pva.org. Home for Prevent- less Animals, P.O. Box 217, Waynetown, IN 47990 or the Salvation Army, Indiana Divisional Headquarters, 3100 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis, IN 46226.

Online condolences can be made at www.BuckhautH.

To make it easier to see who is the owner of a property, the City of Crawfordsville added a new feature for the Fiber infrastructure. By enrolling a property, the owner of the property will always be known by the Fiber infrastructure. By taking a look at the City of Crawfordsville and finding the Fiber infrastructure, it is evident and appreciated the city that builds fiber is to be commended," he said. By 2016, the number of devices connected to the Internet in the U.S. is expected to increase to 9 billion devices connected to the Internet in the U.S. On average, the number of devices connected to the Internet in the U.S.